ATVOD

THE AUTHORITY FOR TELEVISION ON DEMAND

Closed Scope Investigations

Edition 1

Services deemed out of scope in the period
18 March 2010 to 31 July 2011

Introduction

This report lists services which have been investigated by ATVOD in the given time period and which ATVOD has determined are not On-Demand Programme Services (“ODPS”) as defined in section 368A of the Communications Act 2003 (“the Act”).

In some cases the investigation will have been closed after a brief initial examination of the service has concluded that the service is clearly out of remit. In such cases ATVOD will not necessarily have entered into any correspondence with the provider of the service. Other cases have been closed after service providers have been contacted and have provided representations that establish that the service is out of scope. Although this report does not list the reason why a particular service was determined to be out of scope, it is expected that such information will be included in future reports in this series.

Services which have been notified to ATVOD are listed in the Directory of Notified Services at <http://www.atvod.co.uk/regulated-services/directory-of-notified-services>

Services whose provision has been determined to be in breach of the obligation to notify are listed at <http://www.atvod.co.uk/regulated-services/scope-determinations> with full details of the determination.

Services which are currently under investigation are listed in the document ‘Open Scope Investigations’ published at <http://www.atvod.co.uk/regulated-services/scope-investigations>

Background

The Act requires providers of ODPS which were operating prior to 18 March 2010 to notify ATVOD by 30 April 2010. Providers of ODPS starting after 18 March 2010 are required to notify ATVOD before the service commences. By the end of April 2010 it was apparent to ATVOD that a significant number of ODPS had not been notified. ATVOD therefore began an investigation process in order to ensure that such services were identified, were informed of their obligations, and were given an opportunity to notify or to make representations on the issue.

In the period to 31 March 2011, services for investigation were identified in the following ways:

- Pre-designation research by Ofcom
- VOD services on major set top box platforms
- Online services linked to TV broadcast and radio channels
- Through ‘Online TV’ aggregation websites
- Other services in clear competition with notified services
eg football club VOD services

eg adult VOD services

Since 1 April 2011, new investigations have been begun in the following circumstances:

- Online adult VOD services identified through adult aggregation websites
- Services referred to ATVOD by complainants
- Services referred to ATVOD by notified service providers

Investigated services

Inclusion in this report merely indicates that at the time the service was investigated it was determined to be out of scope. Should a service change in any material respect, or should new information come to light, or should ATVOD's interpretation of the statutory criteria which define an ODPS change, ATVOD may re-open an investigation into any service included in this report.
