Current Scope Investigations

Edition 1

Services under investigation at 31 July 2011

Introduction

This report lists services which are currently under investigation by ATVOD to determine whether they are On-Demand Programme Services (“ODPS”) as defined in section 368A of the Communications Act 2003 (“the Act”).

Services which have been notified to ATVOD are listed in the Directory of Notified Services at <http://www.atvod.co.uk/regulated-services/directory-of-notified-services>

Services whose provision has been determined to be in breach of the obligation to notify are listed at <http://www.atvod.co.uk/regulated-services/scope-determinations> with full details of the determination.

Services which have been investigated by ATVOD and which ATVOD has determined are not On-Demand Programme Services (“ODPS”) are listed in the document ‘Closed Scope Investigations’ published at <http://www.atvod.co.uk/regulated-services/scope-investigations>

Background

The Act requires providers of ODPS which were operating prior to 18 March 2010 to notify ATVOD by 30 April 2010. Providers of ODPS starting after 18 March 2010 are required to notify ATVOD before the service commences. By the end of April 2010 it was apparent to ATVOD that a significant number of ODPS had not been notified. ATVOD therefore began an investigation process in order to ensure that such services were identified, were informed of their obligations, and were given an opportunity to notify or to make representations on the issue.

In the period to 31 March 2011, services for investigation were identified in the following ways:

- Pre-designation research by Ofcom
- VOD services on major set top box platforms
- Online services linked to TV broadcast and radio channels
- Through ‘Online TV’ aggregation websites
- Other services in clear competition with notified services
 - eg football club VOD services
 - eg adult VOD services

Since 1 April 2011, new investigations have been begun in the following circumstances:

- Online adult VOD services identified through adult aggregation websites

- Services referred to ATVOD by complainants
- Services referred to ATVOD by notified service providers

Services under investigation

Inclusion in this report merely indicates that the service has been identified as requiring an assessment. Our experience to date suggests that many services will be determined to be out of scope after that assessment has taken place, usually following the receipt of representations from the service provider.

No determination that a service is within scope is made without giving the provider an opportunity to make representations. Any such representations are considered by the ATVOD Board Scope Committee before a final determination is made. Service providers can appeal scope determinations to Ofcom.
